

AMY NEARY

OWNER, REVIVOLOGY IV
HYDRATION

Amy Neary has been serving the Colorado Springs community for the past 10 years by providing affordable lab testing to the uninsured and under-insured, with her company, Any Lab Test Now. “We’re able to help people who otherwise might forego getting a diagnosis and treatment from their physician, simply because they can’t afford their lab tests, says Neary. “We are here to close that loop.” She has noticed that despite health-care reform, she still sees many people unable to afford monthly premiums or are in very high deductible policies. “These are the people who make my work so fulfilling. Just because someone is insured doesn’t mean they can afford a large out of pocket lab order. We take away that pain, and facilitate getting them back to their doctor quickly for treatment.”

She is also proud of some of the programs her business has instituted over the years to help the community. Her business provides low cost flu vaccines, and has offered free flu clinics for the indigent community. She says, “that is just one of the ways we try to give back. We’ve also done free educational programs at local schools to teach parents about the dangers and signs of teen drug use.” Additionally, a program that is very special to her is a partnership with a non-profit organization that encourages people to become bone marrow donors and be part of the national bone marrow registry. “It’s important to make a difference, and we’re blessed to be able to do that every day.”

Amy’s passion for helping others live a healthy life has led to her latest endeavor, Revivology - IV Hydration. Learning many lessons in healthcare over the past decade, she says, “the most important is that we should be focused on wellness. Focused on prevention of disease, and not disease treatment.” Her new venture provides nutrient vitamin IV therapy for those looking to stay healthy, and feel their best. “Why not try to live your best life, and avoid illness by taking a pro-active stance every day?” asks Neary. There is an abundance of scientific evidence that supports the claim that her treatments are beneficial. She says, “IV vitamin therapy is something fairly new in our community, and I’m excited to start changing the conversation. The importance of preventative healthcare is truly a paradigm shift we all need to make.”
